In the Midst of Change...

Bishop Katherine Finegan

Dear People of the Northern Great Lakes Synod,

I have heard it said, "If nothing ever changed, there would be no butterflies." What I hear in this quote is the promise of better, the hope of beauty, and the surprise of blessing that can come from change. Our world, our society, our climate, our culture, our Church—all are in the midst of change, transition, and maybe even transformation.

But we are not so keen on change. People like to sit in the same pew, go to the same place for coffee, sit in the same place at the dinner table, observe traditions and rituals that give order, structure, and meaning to our days. Sure, we might rearrange the furniture or put-up new curtains, but these changes are of our own making. We choose the change and we can change it back if we want to. It's when changes are imposed upon us that we may balk, resist, or resent what another has decided or how the flow has shifted. No one decided that the Church or culture should change, but it has. And because I believe the Holy Spirit knows how much we resist change, we, as the Church, are being pushed in a direction that we would not go in willingly but is God's will nevertheless. So here we are, and already I see the promise of better, the hope of beauty and unexpected blessing.

In July, 27 lay people who provide preaching in their own and neighboring congregations met for a Preaching Seminar. The goal was to further equip them for the ministry they are already doing—using their gifts in ways that perhaps would not happen if there were enough pastors to go around. These gifted, spirited, and conscientious leaders invested their time and effort to learn more in order to do better. Efforts will continue to support and equip lay leaders and preachers for the work of ministry alongside pastors and administrative interims.

I see congregations becoming more collaborative, partnering together with neighboring congregations for ministry and education, supporting each other, becoming more aware of each other, learning from each other. I see us becoming more mindful of the work of the Holy Spirit in our midst. Our classes on spirituality, prayer, and discernment offered through Lifelong Faith Formation continue to be well-attended. I see a heightened tolerance for discomfort as people have the courage to engage in conversations around race, politics, gender issues, and more. More and more, people in our congregations are lowering their defenses to learn something new. Book studies, the Kaleidoscope Challenge, and study of ELCA social statements provide ongoing opportunities for deeper engagement and conversation concerning issues that do not have a sound bite answer.

I am proud of us for the innovation I see, the resilience, the adaptability, and the commitment to ministry and congregational life, even in the face of uncertainty and civil division. Be aware that in our world, and in our congregations, anxiety can present as anger, negativity, and a desire to blame or demonize when really there is no one to blame. Change is simply happening. And our calling as disciples of Jesus is to respond in a way that is life-giving, compassionate, and in alignment with Jesus' command to love God and neighbor.

Change is afoot...even in the Synod office. Courtney Wehmeier, our Synod Office Administrator for the last year, was accepted into a graduate program in Leeds, England to pursue a degree in Marketing Analytics. Her last day was in July. Pastor Jim Duehring, our Assistant to the Bishop and Director for Evangelical Mission for the last seven years, has joined the ranks of the retired as of August 31. As of this writing, the search for new staff continues. In the meantime, Betsy Koski, our Synod bookkeeper and fill-in-the-gap-gal, and myself will do our best to meet the demands of Synod ministry. And of course, in this staff transition, there is opportunity. Perhaps circumstances will necessitate inventing a new way of doing things. Perhaps we will be blessed with new staff that provide unique perspectives and a skill set that we didn't know we needed.

Whatever the future brings - in our country, in our world, in our congregations, in our synod, God is at work...in you and your community of faith. Together, we will strive to respond to change in a way that proclaims that we are disciples of Jesus and children of God, united in mission and planting seeds for future hope, beauty, and blessing.

Yours in Christ, Bishop Katherine Finegan

Stewards of Children Training

October 2, 5-7:30p at Gethsemane

YOU...yes, YOU are invited to a VERY important training being held at Gethsemane in October.

The

Main

Point

Stewards of Children® is an evidence-informed, award-winning, two and a half hour training that teaches adults to prevent, recognize, and react responsibly to child sexual abuse. Through interviews with a very diverse group of people with lived experience, experts, and treatment providers, Stewards of Children® teaches adults practical actions they can take to reduce instances of child sexual abuse in their organizations, families, and communities.

Participants will exit the training being able to engage in conversations about child sexual abuse prevention with other adults and enact prevention policies where children live, learn, and play. They will also be able to recognize and react to boundary violations as well as suspected child abuse and disclosures. Participants will transfer the skills they learn into their communities, helping to embed prevention practices into their communities and help embed prevention practices within their spheres of influence to help proactively prevent child sexual abuse.

THE ISSUE: One in 10 children will be sexually abused before their 18th birthday. While many of us grew up with warnings of “stranger danger”, the truth is most children who experience sexual abuse are victimized by someone they and their family know and trust. Sexual abuse is the biggest public health crisis facing children today, and research shows that people who experience sexual abuse as children are more likely to suffer from life-long psychological and health consequences, including post-traumatic stress syndrome, substance abuse, depression, and early death.

The good news is child sexual abuse can be stopped. Through education and training, adults can be empowered to recognize the signs of child sexual abuse, respond responsibly, and create organizations and communities that are safe for kids.

Guided by the belief that all children have rights, we offer programmatic expertise in grassroots community mobilization, innovative program design, capacity building, strategic communication, pioneering partnerships, and evidence-informed training. Behavior change is at the core of all we do.

Training features include:

- Delivered by rigorously trained instructors and facilitators
- Features powerful videos paired with robust facilitated discussion
- Teaches 3 foundational, empowerment skills:
  - Making choices that protect children
  - Taking risks to minimize danger to children
  - Supporting each other
- Highlights The 5 Steps to Protecting Children™ and how to apply them

Back to school? Time for Rules!

So, I'm MOSTLY kidding about the rules listed above (except the phone thing – I try to make myself super available to anyone at any time, but even this gal needs to take a moment or two and quiet her mind!)

In all seriousness, we really are fortunate to have the Good Book, which has a lot to teach us about what rules we are to follow...

- Of course, we have the Big 10 (Exodus 20). Those are pretty non-negotiable.
- The entire book of Proverbs offers some great guidance on...everything!
- Colossians 3:23 is a favorite, especially when the paperwork gets tedious
“Whatever you do, work heartily, as for the Lord and not for humankind.”
- And then there’s Ephesians 4:32, which really gets to the heart of the matter:
“Be kind to one another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, as God in Christ forgave you.”

So, in the end, we can make up as many rules as WE wish could be enforced, but the ONE who rules us all is the only ONE worth truly following.

Pr. Brenda

Hospitalized? Upcoming procedure? Welcome a visit? Contact the Office at 906.788.4234, or reach out to Pr Brenda directly at 720.989.8218 (call/text), and we'll make it happen!
